

Please add my voice to those who wish the Federal Communications Commission to enforce a "no call" policy. We in Wisconsin chose to eliminate telemarketing calls on our private telephone lines when we added our name and telephone number to the "No Call List" Wisconsin and the Federal Government has offered for the past 1-2 years.

Those who are trying to bring suit against the State of Wisconsin for having this policy in place should be looking at ways to be more creative in their print and media advertising if they need to draw more customers. They need to understand that private citizens wish to have their homes remain just that - - private.

I have never, nor would I ever (if this policy were not currently in place in Wisconsin) purchase or subscribe to any product or service which is being touted in a telemarketing contact, and I believe most people who are on this list feel this way or they wouldn't have added their numbers to the (considerable) total.

Please eliminate this unwanted intrusion into our homes.
